Extending the Value of Your ERP Investment

Infor ERP XA Enterprise Business Intelligence is the comprehensive business intelligence software offering that helps manufacturers make world-class decisions. Complete with built-in reports and key measurements, Infor ERP XA EBI drives better decision making, improves your business performance results and reduces bottlenecks, all while extending the value of your ERP (and other) operational systems.

The Challenge

If you look in any World-Class enterprise today, you'll find that the volume of business decisions is going up - while the time allotted to make these decisions is going down. Now more than ever, it is critical for businesses to make the best business performance decisions to ensure successful results. Managing business performance means tracking a wide array of key performance indicators (KPI's) across your entire enterprise to identify the causes and effects of your successes and problems. For this measurement to be effective, information from your company's individual functions must be brought together into a holistic company view - and shared with the broadest audience possible.

The Solution

Infor ERP XA EBI extends the value of your Infor ERP XA (or other) ERP application, transforming your operational data into consistent, reliable information optimized for effective and accurate reporting and analysis. Comprised of three process application bundles - customer, financial and supply chain analytics - Infor ERP XA EBI lets your organization benefit from enterprise-wide, corporate performance management that is founded on a single, integrated and complete 360-degree view of your business operations.
